Dear Readers

Hello, you.

With every ending comes a vibrant new beginning. I am Nicole Lee, the new editor for Bathroom + Kitchen today. I am stoked to be helping the magazine from this issue on and I hope you continue to enjoy it just as much, if not more.

Our bathroom cover story delves into the curious case of our shrinking space. In times of cram-ness, what do you do? Many might tell you the secret is in having dual function furniture, but I think they're missing another important point. Take a step back and relook your bathroom with us as we present four quaint installations that will breathe a new lease of life into your crowded quarters.

The next story focuses on the most important room in a home: the kitchen. Most of us have traditional ideas about a kitchen – a stove, a fridge and a counter. But do you know more and more homes are turning to professional-grade kitchens for inspiration on their own? Culinary dons on a polished new coat in these six highlights of our kitchen story.

Time for school! Being a fashion fanatic, I recently observed that the intricate geometries of the classic tile have crept into many a designer's inspiration palette, with brands such as womenswear giant Forever 21 taking the wheel. Grab a pencil and start taking notes as we take a class in geometry, exploring what repetitive patterns can bring to a room.

Our product specials revolve around day-to-day products taken for a spin. These products are a twist on the norm, providing a fresh perspective on formerly ordinary items. A rolling flower pot and a light bulb within a stripped cube? The catalogue will surprise at every turn.

Have a lovely time reading!

THIS DESIGNER'S KEEN EYE FOR COLOR RESULTS IN A POPPING SIGHT FOR THE EYES

Pop stands for "popular" or "popular sanitary ware", collection characterized by "a design for everyone", which aims to reach a broader aesthetic consensus. An Industrial design with harmony, simplicity and popularity as identifying elements along with immediate and proportionate signs that arouse instantaneous empathy on the end user. Formally, the conical and linear base opens out into a thick ceramic rim that animates the outline.

The collection includes wall-hung, back to wall sanitary-ware, wall-hung, countertop washbasins and a freestanding washbasin.

The Pop back to wall water closet, in particular, can be easily fixed on new and old installations through the use of an adjustable flush, this solution being particularly useful for not breaking the existing walls when renovating the bathroom area.

TOTO'S RIMLESS TOILETS ELIMINATE CHANCES OF BACTERIA HIDING UNDER HARD-TO-REACH RIMS

Outfitted with a trio of technologies that are the fruit of decades of research and development, the TOTO rimless toilets are the embodiment of intelligent hygiene. Paired together with TOTO's global bestselling Washlet, these toilets are a real royal flush for consumers who prioritise comfort and hygiene in their toilets above everything else.

"A clean toilet is a real pleasure to experience, and TOTO's toilets are unsurpassed in both cleanliness and comfort. The elegant rimless feature of TOTO toilets, a marvelously simple piece of design technology, has really elevated their toilets above others in terms of hygiene," says Mr Gani Atmadiredja, Managing Director of W. Atelier. "At the end of the day, the washroom is the safe haven to which we retreat to after a hectic work day and where we prepare ourselves first thing in the morning for the busy day ahead. It therefore stands to reason that we want the very best toilet experiences – and frankly, nothing comes close to the overall TOTO bathroom experience."

Many models of TOTO's toilets are rimless because of how much this simple design feature helps in maintaining high standards of cleanliness. The rimless feature of TOTO's toilets has become increasingly effective at maintaining cleanliness over the years with continual improvements through research and development. By eliminating the rim, there are no longer hard-to-reach crevices for germs to lurk in, hence also making it easier to clean thoroughly.

LESS IS MORE: SWISS BATHROOM SPECIALIST LAUFEN PRESENTS ITS NEW, RIMLESS WC, WHICH PREVENTS THE BUILD-UP OF GERMS AND ODOURS

Less is more: With a new design and innovative flushing technology, the Swiss bathroom specialist Laufen presents its new, rimless WC, which prevents the build-up of germs and odour.

They are universally familiar: those toilet cleaner bottles with their bent necks, deodorizing tablets and toilet brushes with rim cleaners. Inventors have come up with all manner of solutions for dealing with accumulations that build up under the flushing rim of lavatories. And yet the logical solution is so simple: no flushing rim, no accumulations, no unpleasant smells.

Thanks to innovative flushing technology, the new WC from Laufen comes without a flushing rim. The water virtually reaches every part of the inner basin and gives germs and bacteria no chance to get established.

The new rimless WC offers the highest ever standards of hygiene and is quick and easy to clean, making it ideal for public facilities, hotels and all well frequented places where cleaning times need to be quick and a high degree of hygiene guaranteed. However, the rimless WC from Laufen is also a welcome alternative to a conventional WC in private homes, as here, too, there are great advantages to easy cleaning.

The rimless WC flushes powerfully and without splashing, whether it uses 6 and 3 or 4.5 and 3 litres. Its minimal internal design gives a clear visual indication of its improved levels of hygiene. Here, design represents aesthetics and hygiene, form and function.

HUDSON VALLEY LIGHTING BRINGS A NEW ANGLE TO THE GEOMETRIC TREND WAVE

“Hudson Valley is about more than lighting; it’s about a lifestyle,” insists Hudson Valley Lighting’s founder with missionary zeal. “We design and build beautiful fixtures for people who put quality first—for people who are not willing to trade-off that increasingly rare characteristic.” He elaborates: “Our aim is to make a space look absolutely incredible; therefore, our first goal is always to deliver the very best fixture we can. Of course, we can only achieve that goal if we keep our products within reach of customers who understand the lasting value of a well-made fixture, but cannot simply disregard price entirely.”

Keeping with the latest trends, Hudson Valley Lighting introduces their geometrical lights series. Being “square” has never been so cool. As geometric design increases in popularity, these versatile four-sided shapes are increasingly invading all aspects of home decor. For your editorial consideration, we present some of our favorite “fair and square” designs.

It has been said that good design is about tension. Inspired by the Atomic Age, Roundout celebrates the tension that keeps the universe and the atom alike in perfect place. Tumbling cubes in textured black and metallic are welded within each other in frozen motion, surrounding a contrasting modern-style brass lighting cluster in the breathtaking, sculptural fixture.

ROCA MAKES BULKY WATER CLOSETS A THING OF THE PAST WITH THEIR NEWEST INTEGRATED CONCEPT

Roca revolutionises the world of the bathroom with the In-Tank system that, for the very first time, integrates the cistern in the WC itself. Simplicity, elegance and ease of installation all come together in a single product. In-Tank marks the beginning of a new era in the world of the bathroom.

The new-generation In-Tank Meridian WCs do not require the installation of either cistern or flush plate to be fully operational. The WC itself incorporates an integrated tank and flush system. Its innovative formal aesthetics set new trends in the classic concept of the WC, taking another bold step towards the future. The In-Tank Meridian forms part of the extensive Meridian bathroom collection.

Roca has created the new In-Tank system, which integrates the cistern into the WC. Its LATEST technology ensures an optimal, silent flush: it consists of an air pump that pushes the water from the tank to provide the dual 4.5/3 litre flush.

In-Tank Meridian, with its compact, rounded lines, makes installation easier and avoids the visual impact of an external cistern. It is the new generation of integrated WCs: all the components required by the WC form part of it. In-Tank Meridian allows for the elimination of the concealed tank and the flush plate, thus simplifying installation enormously.

DANCE WITH THE SUN AND SWAY IN A BREEZE WITH VOLTASOL'S ROLLING FLOWERPOT

VoltaSol have the gift of mobility. Especially designed to move according to the trajectory of the sun (which explains his particular inclination) in order to promote the movement of plants and help them grow better.

The flowerpot has a semi-conical base that avoids the static nature of conventional pots, thereby creating a slight movement that can either be generated spontaneously or else be induced at will.

The simple movement is created on the axis of the pot. This slight manipulation of the base that causes a vertex to emerge from its circular center facilitates the movement of the plant and stimulates its growth by multiplying the amount of sunlight capable of reaching the roots and leaves.

Potted plants are apparently static, so why not provide them with movement to enable them to follow the path of the sun to sway in a breeze or grow at will? These ideas generate a new flowerpot, VoltaSol, a tilted pot that facilitates the movement of the plant and stimulates its growth.

GLAMOURING THE BATHROOM

Text & photos by Laufen Bathroom AG

AHOY THERE! ALL AT SEA WITH LAUFEN PRO AT MONDRIAN LONDON AT SEA CONTAINERS!

Exuding 1920s cruise ship glamour, the guest bathrooms have been fitted with Laufen sanitaryware.

Working with Design Research Studio under the creative direction of renowned British designer Tom Dixon, Laufen products have been chosen to help give a modern twist to the sophisticated design, synonymous with the Mondrian brand.

The new urban boutique hotel from the Morgans Hotel Group is an iconic building on London's South Bank, offering guests the opportunity to relax in luxury and comfort throughout.

Fitted to a very high standard and drawing design inspiration from the building's transatlantic narrative, Laufen Pro wall-hung WC pans have been selected for each of the hotel's 359 rooms and public washrooms.

Offering a simplistic yet stylish design, the Laufen Pro WC fits seamlessly into the hotel bathrooms, offering guests an unrivalled level of comfort.

“With the Sea Containers building being such an iconic structure and of such historical importance to the city, it is essential that the interior of the hotel also lives up to expectation,” commented Ilker Hussein, Commercial Director, Laufen Bathrooms AG.

“We were delighted to work with Tom Dixon and his team in order to help create beautiful bathroom spaces that help cement the hotel’s reputation as a luxurious destination in which to stay while visiting London.

INTO THE WOODS

Text & photos by PaulBernier.com

Inside, a large hickory wall unit, shaped to offer seating and a place to hang away coats, greets visitors. It also directs one toward the living space, a large, generously lit area that culminates in a cantilevered, screened room with a view of the mouth of the stream and the lake. On the south side, the exterior wall makes way for a large glazed surface that opens onto the forest. During summer, the trees, like the green roof, create a natural screen to shield the house from heat. In winter when the leaves have fallen, sunlight filters through the forest and floods the space with warmth and light.

The materials used for the surfaces are simple and refined. The white walls and polished cement floors contrast with the rugged natural surroundings, allowing the scenery outside to take center stage.

The large open area is occupied by three wooden masses. They are placed along an axis that draws one through the sequence of spaces that make up the living area. Made of hickory, these built-in units include the storage and bench unit in the entrance, the kitchen island, and a television and sound system cabinet. Their functions are barely legible, allowing them to remain as abstract as possible in order to emphasize only their form, material, and relationship to one another. The kitchen island is in the center of the space, offering a panoramic view of the surrounding landscape.

The large built-in unit in the entrance also screens off the more private areas of the home. Tucked in behind the ample wooden structure is the access to the bedrooms, as well as the staircase that leads to the reading room atop the green roof. Upstairs, the wood-paneled space offers a quiet retreat from the rest of the house.

A CLASS IN geometry

To the individual manufacturers mentioned in this article.

As we edge into summer's lively song, I am sure the cheery task of revitalizing your home with a fresh splash of colour has come closer and closer to the forefront of your "home ideas" mental catalogue. Instead of pushing it into next year, as we always do, why not make a conscious effort to get into it this year?

Across the board, A-list designers have declared geometric designs and marble to make a spectacular show of themselves this year, inadvertently rushing furniture giants into a flurry to get their symmetrical game face on. I must say I welcome this colourful trend with glee – we all could do with a little more jazz in our lives.

Here are five different surfaces, varying in style and materials, which can suit any home:

Walk The Sea by Delessard

The sculptural glass ceiling, with a prismatic shape and tones is illustrating its underwater magic, becoming a form representation of the refraction of natural light on the water and denser water as Nemo and his accomplices may have seen. The key aspect of this element is the extraordinary bookcase aboard the Nautilus that Jean de Lessard has conceptualized and successfully integrated in his design. In one fluid motion, the striking honeycomb ceiling becomes a sweeping tsunami of shelves. This is a simple, practical and ingenious way to maximize the store area surface.

For more information, visit www.delessard.com.

Dark Matter by Baptise Debombourg

By walking through the installation, these surface appearances or ambiguous visions are revealed – generated by its mirrored aspect. The transformation of the space, induced by the white, almost totemic shape of the wall - the remaining segment of the room's original state - highlights the unreliable nature of reflections. The cracks condition the corners, which de-condition the body, whose position becomes critical. The mask, installed where the flow is interrupted, reproduces this vision indefinitely by diffracting the glass, and reflects a shifting image of appearance and disappearance for the viewer... "A reflection is a presence that has no place / does not occur."

For more information, visit www.baptistedebombourg.com.

A Noir Affair by Ceratec

With origins dating back to the Roman Empire, this format has gone through history and this classic look resurfaces yet again with a smooth and organic mixture of three perfectly matched colours to create a geometric and architectural decor. Once confined to the bathroom floors, the hex is now becoming an important decorative element that nicely blends with classic and contemporary interiors.

For more information, visit www.ceratec.com.

Pop Art by Roy Lichtenstein

The POP is a milestone in the history of the art. Its colour palette has roots in the 50s and remains as fresh as ever. Its rectangular 5x13 format is highly dynamic, and ideal for a backsplash or an eye-popping wall covering. It is also available in four original textures that create a sensual, almost organic energy. With its invigorating colours and lustre, your space will be anything but anonymous: the Pop brings excitement to your whole interior. Show your colours!

For more information, visit www.ceratec.com.

Wood All Over by Produce

The primary materials used are maple-veneered plywood for the volumes and solid pine strips for the trellis. They are selected for their light colour so that the structure acts like a blank canvas on which the two shops can fill with colours with their variety of products. The light coloured maple and pine also helps contrast with the darker colours of the SOTA atrium.

ESSENCE OF WOOD

by RAGNO

The selection comes in grey and walnut as well.

With its 7-3/4" planks available in lengths of up to 82", Mirage satisfies even the most demanding design and originality criteria. These planks boast a full array of natural characteristics unique to wood: character and milling marks, open and closed knots, mineral streaks, cracks, surface holes, and hairline cracks.

THROUGH MOSAIC EYES

by HAFARY

In line with the strong ability to set trends, Digitalart, the new collection of Ceramica Sant'Agostino, bursts into the world of fashion using the artistic graphics of tissue and defining a new ornamental code for the most advanced ceramic material. Digitalart does not limit to translating the style of texture but interprets it artistically through a graphic key, with a chromatic movement of empty and full, alternated through visual sequences that become a language.

A WEDDING AFFAIR

by NBJ ARCHITECTURE

A strong interiority contrasts with the outside. It offers a warm, enveloping and remarkable atmosphere up to the solemnity of the events it hosts. One of the key elements of the wedding room lays in its ceiling which carries both technical stakes (such as lights) and aesthetic ones. This architectural element brings an overall dynamics within the room and provides a well integrated marked molding.

BATHROOM SPACES

TINY BATHROOM SPACES

Product Highlights: Fonte Monica by Rexa, Barrierarm Allure by Grohe, Laufen Palace by Roca and Curiosity by Agape

Feeling cramped lately? Tell me about it.

In a country as small as ours, it is little surprise that we are constantly out of space. As our homes get smaller, we become more motivated to seek out ways to maximise our quarters. In recent years, small homes have grown to become a trend, prompting industry giants such as IKEA to showcase tiny 23sq feet homes, inspiring homeowners to take a closer look at what exactly is eating up their space.

The key to maximizing space isn't just in dual-function furniture, but rather, in eliminating the unnecessary. Take the bathroom, for example. How much space are you leaving unused under your sink? I would guess a bucket or two. What about behind the mirror? Nobody needs that large a medicine cabinet! You get the idea.

Now the vital question is – how do we package tiny spaces in the most attractive way? With sleekness, of course! Think clean, crisp lines and polished, reflective surfaces. Nothing comes with minimalism quite as well as a sleek, silver stove or a stylish marble sink.

Here are four different bathroom sinks, varying in mood and style, all serving the dual purpose of functionality and aesthetic keenness:

FONTE MONICA BY REXA DESIGN

Monica Graffeo's Fonte is a simple sink concept pulled apart and re-assembled back together, now inculcating storage compartments and a bathroom essentials display. The easy, wood finish lends a warm glow to the bathroom, making it a cosy place to start the day with a freshening bath.

LAUFEN PALACE

Text and Photos by ROCA SINGAPORE

Famed for their stylish design, Roca takes on a mighty responsibility of storage in their Laufen Palace collection. The ceramic counter top dives lightly into two separate hand basins, complete with stainless steels taps. This sleek structure stands atop four ceramic compartments, allowing much room for storage. It is complete with a practical chromed aluminium handrail, a rest stop for towels to dry.

DAUM ROSE BY THG

Each delicate and ornate DAUM Rose offers beautiful sculptural qualities and color variation, perched atop a beautiful curved pedestal with subtle details on each THG handle. The series is artfully arranged with a beautiful, wide, curved spout with intricate fluting on its sides and stepped pedestal. Erected on a stripped bare sink, it allows plenty of space for amenities and towels, ensuring the bathroom's beauty isn't compromised by practicality.

CURIOUS BY AGAPE

Agape's curiosity is a fine example of maximising the bathroom's horizontal wall space. This modern structure stretches across the bathroom provided an array of functions, from towel racks, to bathroom essential holders, to a seamlessly activated faucet for the sink.

LAUFEN PALACE

by ROCA SINGAPORE

The practical and visual highlight of the collection is the lavish washbasins. They come in four widths – the two largest versions also as double washbasins. All feature an ample bowl organically formed out of the angular ceramic block to merge fluidly with the ample shelf area. The washbasins can be customised in size at the factory and even diagonal cuts are possible – ideal for bespoke hotel and private bathrooms – and where the builder or architect wishes to retain the authentic ceramic look. Before the ceramics are fired at the factory, the cut edges can be concealed by a ceramic covering so that no joins are visible – a technical innovation that again underscores the consummate skill of the Swiss bathroom specialist.

LE JEUNE

by MAXIME MOREAU

Spaces and furniture serve untraditional functions. For example, instead of a typical dining room, there is an open space area between the kitchen, living room and terrace, with furniture tailored to the occupants' needs. While they generally eat at the kitchen island, they also have the option of serving meals on a low coffee table that folds and rises to form a more traditional dining room table. This flexibility of functional space and simple furnishings makes it even easier to turn outward and move the dining area outside during the summer. The contemporary white furniture juxtaposes perfectly with the wood terrace, with its long bench, its light concealed in a niche and its fence for privacy.

KITCHEN SPACES

RE-DEFINING THE KITCHEN

Product Highlights: AI442 and AI240 by Gaggenau, ThermoCeramix by DownTown Grill, Giga X8C by Edika, Carat by Kayiwa, AboutWater by Fantini + Boffi, C'est Chic by Chic and Basta

What is the most important room in a home to you?

In a survey conducted by Allworth Homes, the kitchen/ dining area was ranked the most important room to 87% of the 115 Australia respondents. Considering how Asians families firmly believe in having meals together in the dining room, we can expect that percentage to surge more if we applied the survey here.

Since we have established that the kitchen is one of the most important rooms in any home, wouldn't the next logical course of action be to jazz it up? Take a detour from traditional designs and give these a look!

Here are six suggested additions, ready to take a spin on your kitchen:

Giga x8C by EDIKA

Known for the design, ergonomic conception and state-of-the-art technology of its machines, Jura is always working towards creating the perfect "coffee experience". The GIGA X8c Professional machine is ideal for companies, especially due to its speed function, allowing it to prepare coffee ultra-quickly. It can hold up to 29 programmable coffee specialties. It comes with 2 ceramic disk professional grinders.

AI240 by Gaggenau

The AI240 island hood in box design sets a strong architectural tone in the kitchen. It comes with an energy-saving and high-performance fan, which can be controlled manually by means of three adjustable power levels. It also features an intensive mode that is regulated automatically by means of sensors in accordance with the build-up of cooking vapours. The rim extraction filters with their flush stainless steel undersides are easy to remove, and can be conveniently cleaned in the dishwasher. This model is available in widths of 90cm or 120cm.

ThermoCeramix by Downtown Grill

Ideal for condos and apartments, flame- and gas-free, and based on a 100% safe electric technology, Downtown Grill products are the answer anywhere traditional grills aren't allowed. Because it plugs into a 120 V 15A W/GFI outlet, it's as easy to use as a toaster. The 16 × 10 inch cooking surface of the Electric Hibachi is non-stick, and the peripheral groove collects cooking residues.

AboutWater by Fantini + Boffi

Aboutwater is a partnership between two companies: Boffi and Fantini. Their partnership is based on the concept of creating an innovative collection of taps with a modern and elegant design, conceptually excellent with flawless production. Every item of the Aboutwater line is lead free, in compliance with the most progressive international standards safeguarding public health: the Aboutwater faucets do not exceed 0.25% in lead content.

C'est Chic by Chic & Basta

Chic & Basta believe that a people's soul is expressed in their objects and craft, that handmade objects and products of local artisans made in small series, are more beautiful, last longer, and ultimately provide more satisfaction than goods mass produced by our industrial society. They put a new spin on traditional utensils, borrowing elements of wood and allowing an oriental influence to guide them through this series of redesigned kitchenware.

Carat by Kayiwa

Without a stem or sham, Carat's equiangular and equilateral polygon form is designed to rest on any of its many sides. When in this inclined position, the glass increases the surface of the liquid exposed to air, enhancing aromas and allowing for oxygenation of fine spirits. The Carat collection also includes a multifunctional wine bucket that can chill both standard and magnum-sized bottles but can double as a unique flower vase.

REGI COLOUR

coloured sinks made of stainless steel

REGI COLOUR. MADE IN HOLLAND

Stainless steel sinks are always the most popular choice of kitchen sinks due to its durability, versatility, and easy maintenance. Nevertheless, the growing demand in sophisticated kitchen design, which often requires a bold colour, or unique finish for the kitchen sink has been the main drawback to stainless steel sinks, as its overall appearance will always have a silver finish.

Reginox anticipated the rising needs of users throughout the years and finally came out with the breakthrough innovation—Regi Colour. By applying an advanced technique, the company has successfully produced superb coloured sink units, which have a luxurious metallic and pearlescent finish.

This debut is a milestone for stainless steel sink manufacturers, as it is the first time that stainless steel sinks are available in exciting new finishes and shades. Regi Colour is available in three colours, namely Midnight Sky, Arctic White and Sahara Sand.
